Acquiring a Bigger Sense of Things

OBSERVING the state of affairs in the common walks of life no one must admit that many of the troubles which beset mankind arise from the small sense of things entertained by the majority of individuals. We find people living in cramped and narrow circumstances, from which they make no effort to extricate themselves, because their sense of home has not expanded beyond limited ideals. Others regard as tedious and monotonous their tasks, because they have as yet only very little grasp of their native spiritual capabilities. Then what a very small sense has mankind in general of what constitutes supply! We regard money as our supply, believing that without it we cannot live. But how limited, unstable, and fluctuating is the value of money, and how poor its dividends for those who cling fearfully and greedily to it as if it were a vital necessity!

How narrow, too, is our sense of life! We acquiesce in the generally accepted belief that life includes old age which is the forerunner of death. Nevertheless, this false sense of things need no longer be accepted as real and inevitable, for as everything has its starting point in thought, the mental expansion can begin at once.

As a bird's powerful wings bear it upward, so right thought will carry the thinker for when it is turned in the right direction. But if thought is not steadied down to a material basis, where it has no room to spread, expand, and soar, it follows that the thinker will remain on the same level. Our need then is to free our thought, lift it above the contemplation of life as merely physical, and get it winging into contemplation of the great spiritual truths about God and man to be found in the Bible. For it is a fact that all the littleness and limitations common to human experience arise from a false sense of God and man who is made in His likeness.

Even though the Bible depicts God as loving, good, wise, and unchangeable, many who have desired to know Him have not learned to feel Him as a mighty power and presence in their lives. Yet this right sense should be realized, for Christ Jesus said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also;" and the mighty works which he did were accomplished through his complete understanding of God as the ever present Father, caring for His children.

Who ever had so boundless a sense of things as Jesus? Even at the age of twelve he felt his God-given ability to talk and reason about spiritual things. Later, at the beginning of his ministry, the Master turned the water into wine at the marriage feast. The human needs of five thousand hungry people in a desert place did not dismay him, and the food set before them was abundant. When called upon to heal the sick and raise the dead, he did not bestow upon them only partial recovery, but health, activity, and freedom. And to all who follow in this way, Christ Jesus offers for all time full and complete salvation and life without end.

To Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, confidence in God as the vital power, the sovereign presence, the Father-Mother Mind, outweighed all other influences in her life; and through her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she has placed this beautiful, practical, and satisfying sense of God within the reach of all mankind.

Hon. A. Willis Robertson will be one of the speakers on the commencement week program at the University of Richmond.

CARDUI FOR WOMEN

On page six of science and health we find this profound statement: "Unfathomable Mind is expressed. The depth, breadth, height, might, majesty, and glory of infinite Love fill all space. That is enough." As, to the material senses, the sun pours its light and heat upon all the earth, blessing and heartening mankind, so to the spiritual senses of those who gain a right concept of God, comes the glorious assurance of the all-pervading presence and power of the infinite Mind, which is Love, ceaselessly pouring forth its divine ideas for men to recognize and utilize. Goodness, wisdom, purity, loving-kindness, justice, mercy, faith, hope, courage, assurance—all these and every other spiritual quality existing in infinite Mind belong to man by reflection, for he is the idea of God, the expression of God's being.

Let all who find themselves held in cramped and narrow places by the limited sense of things they have hitherto entertained, begin at once to turn thought in the right direction. As the glories of infinite Mind are steadfastly contemplated, their concept of God will grow and enlarge, and with it will come a joyful sense of freedom and power through the spiritual ability to reject the false beliefs of limitation, lack, and discord. One's daily life and occupations will take on nobler outlines. Instead of the dread of helpless old age there will be the confident expectation of added wisdom, harmony, and fruition; and so the ceaseless incoming of Love's spiritual bless to human consciousness, and their faithful utilization, will be manifested in our experience by abundant supply.—The Christian Science Monitor.

State News

Richmond, June 6.- (Special) The monthly rate among flies reached a "high swatter mark" in 1932, when in enterprising youth, ore E. T. Collier, of Red Oak, Va. alone and unaided swatted 23,229 of these all too ubiquitous pests.

A communication from Mr. Comer to the state department of health, states that for the years 1931, 1932 and 1933 he killed 27,989 flies! Flies are well known carriers of disease. They spread germs of typhoid fever from human wastes to exposed food, milk and water. They also carry the germs of infantile diarrhoea and tuberculosis. Every fly killed is a gain.

Richmond, June 6.- (Special).- While with colored supervisors in Virginia schools this spring, Dr. B. B.
